Matthew Buckingham's films usually centre on little-known episodes in history, such as the navigational exploits of Henry Hudson and the sparrow into North America. He once found a box of home movies outside a Manhattan cinema and used them

WITH Plymouth

WITH are what happens when society loses its belief systems. So lost are we in the galaxy of navelgazing ennui that it takes an indomitable organisation like WITH to raise our deluded aspirations to the heights of Trump Tower while massaging our fragile egos. Bored of your pedestrian existence?

Well, WITH can organize a conspiracy surrounding every aspect of your life, or perhaps you would rather the thrill of extreme violence? WITH's agents will follow you closely and cause havoc in your name. Using the doublespeak beloved of the commercial sector, WITH present themselves as a caring sharing organisation, yet beneath the corporate hospitality there lurks an arts organisation as warped as Richard O'Brien. JL Plymouth Arts Centre, to May 27
